NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION

TO RESPONDENT AND HIS ATTORNEY OF RECORD: PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on February 22, 2021 at 1:30 PM or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard in Courtroom 5 of the United States District Courthouse located at 501 I Street, Sacramento, California, Petitioners will move and hereby do move under Federal Rules of Evidence, rule 201, that the Court take judicial notice of adjudicative facts contained in Petitioners' exhibits 1-470 submitted herewith. This motion is submitted together with Petitioners' concurrently filed Requests for Judicial Notice, Index, and Appendices One through Three.

Federal Rule of Evidence 201(b)(2) (Judicial Notice of Verifiable Facts) authorizes, and in certain cases mandates, judicial notice of an adjudicative fact "not subject to reasonable dispute because it ... can be accurately and readily determined from sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned." United States v. Dreyer, 767 F.3d 826, 834 n.12 (9th Cir. 2014).

The purpose of each request for Judicial Notice will respectfully request the Court, in each separate instance to either accept: 1) The truth of the matter stated, 2) The fact that the statement was made, 3) The fact that the statement is common knowledge or well known to the reasonable person throughout the country, or 4) The fact that the statement is common knowledge to those in the scientific community who are familiar with the matter.

Petitioners also include a supplemental request to authorize Petitioners' use of the attached demonstrative evidence pursuant to Federal Rules of Evidence, rule 1006.

This motion is based on the Notice of Motion and Motion, Memorandum of Points and Authorities, declaration of counsel, all supporting papers on file in this action, and on any additional evidence and argument that may be allowed at a hearing of this motion.

1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 I. Introduction

3 All of Petitioners’ Requests for Judicial Notice (PRJNs) are the same in one regard: they 4 rely exclusively on published scientific consensus documents comprised of top medical journals and 5 dictionaries, the official authoritative records of American public health agencies, and the public 6 records (e.g., census data, national health data) relied upon by those public health agencies in setting 7 public health policy.

8 In order to focus the issues and reduce potentially disputed material facts in litigation, 9 Petitioners’ Requests for Judicial Notice are intended to recognize upfront certain but not all 10 consensus positions of public health officials in the United States of America.

11 II. Federal Rules of Evidence for Petitioners’ Requests For Judicial Notice

12 The Federal Rules of Evidence state:

13 Kinds of Facts That May Be Judicially Noticed. The court may judicially notice a 14 fact that is not subject to reasonable dispute because it:

- 15 “(1) is generally known within the trial court’s territorial jurisdiction; or 16 “(2) can be accurately and readily determined from sources whose accuracy 17 cannot reasonably be questioned.

18 USCS Fed. R. Evid. 201(b).

19 “[A] court may take judicial notice of historical, political, or statistical facts, or any other 20 facts that are verifiable with certainty.” Mintz v. FDIC, 729 F. Supp. 2d 276, 278 n.2 (D.D.C. 2010).

21 Moreover, Federal Rules of Evidence § 201(d) states, “The court may take judicial notice at 22 any stage of the proceeding.” Indeed, Federal Rules of Evidence § 201(c)(2) provides that the 23 Court: “must take judicial notice if a party requests it and the court is supplied with the necessary 24 information.”

25 Federal Rules of Evidence Rule § 902 allows evidence that is self-authenticating, stating in 26 relevant part:

27 The following items of evidence are self-authenticating; they require no extrinsic 28 evidence of authenticity in order to be admitted:

- (5) Official Publications. A book, pamphlet, or other publication purporting to be issued by a public authority.
(6) Newspapers and Periodicals. Printed material purporting to be a newspaper or periodical.

1 ...

2 “(13) Certified Records Generated by an Electronic Process or System. A record 3 generated by an electronic process or system that produces an accurate result, as 4 shown by a certification of a qualified person that complies with the certification 5 requirements of Rule 902(11) or (12). The proponent must also meet the notice 6 requirements of Rule 902(11).

7 “(14) Certified Data Copied from an Electronic Device, Storage Medium, or File.
8 Data copied from an electronic device, storage medium, or file, if authenticated 9 by a process of digital identification, as shown by a certification of a qualified 10 person that complies with the certification requirements of Rule 902(11) or (12).
11 The proponent also must meet the notice requirements of Rule 902(11).”

12 USCS Fed. R. Evid. 902.

13 III. Categories of Petitioners’ Documents for Judicial Notice

14 A. Government Documents

15 Government documents, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice 16 where undisputed by the parties.

17 Public records, government documents, and even required public disclosures from private 18 parties to the government, are judicially noticeable. Jackson v. City of Columbus, 194 F.3d 737, 745 19 (6th Cir. 1999); Lovelace v. Software Spectrum, 78 F.3d 1015, 1018 n.1 (5th Cir. 1996). This 20 includes public records and government documents available from reliable sources on the Internet.
21 See, e.g., Grimes v. Navigant Consulting, Inc., 185 F. Supp. 2d 906, 913 (N.D. Ill. 2002) (taking 22 judicial notice of stock prices posted on a website); Cali v. E. Coast Aviation Servs., Ltd., 178 F.
23 Supp. 2d 276, 287 (E.D.N.Y. 2001) (taking judicial notice of documents from Pennsylvania state 24 agencies and Federal Aviation Administration); United States ex rel. Dingle v. BioPort Corp., 270 25 F. Supp. 2d 968, 972 (W.D. Mich. 2003).

26 Federal Rule of Evidence 902(5) provides that books, pamphlets, or other publications 27 “purporting to be issued by a public authority” are self-authenticating. This provision is most 28 frequently applied to statutes, but it also applies to officially printed volumes of court decisions and miscellaneous public documents. See, e.g., United States v. Rainbow Family, 695 F. Supp. 314, 330 n.5 (E.D. Tex. 1988) (portions of United States Army Field Manual were self-authenticating under Rule 902(5)).

Publication of a government document on an official website also constitutes an “official publication” for purposes of Rule 902(5). See, e.g., Boyd v. Armstrong, 2019 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1 56200, at *39 (D. Md. Mar. 29, 2019) (“[U]nder Fed. R. Evid. 902(5), ‘publication[s] purporting to 2 be issued by a public authority’ are self-authenticating. Pursuant to Fed. R. Evid. 902(5), the SOP 3 [Baltimore County Police Department Standard Operating Procedure] is self-authenticating as a 4 publication issued by a public authority, the Baltimore County Police Department.”).

5 In Funk v. Stryker Corp., 631 F.3d 777, 779, 783 (5th Cir. 2011), the appellate court 6 observed, “[T]he [trial] court took judicial notice of a letter from the FDA to [Respondent] 7 indicating that [Petitioner] underwent the PMA process [for FDA approval], noting that the 8 approval process was a matter of public record.... [T]he district court took appropriate judicial 9 notice of publicly-available documents and transcripts produced by the FDA, which were matters of 10 public record directly relevant to the issue at hand....”

11 In Steffan v. Cheney, 780 F. Supp. 1, 15 (D.D.C. 1991), the court upheld judicial notice of a 12 Presidential Commission report, wherein the court found:

13 And so it is with deference to the military and its professional judgment, with 14 deference to the legislature, and under the teaching of Pacific States that the Court 15 takes judicial notice of the widely praised and accepted final report of the 16 Presidential Commission on the Human Immunodeficiency Virus Epidemic 17 [hereinafter Presidential Report]. In that report it was stated that the HIV 18 “epidemic has predominantly been confined to people participating in behaviors 19 such as homosexual sex and intravenous drug abuse” Presidential Report at 20 15. The latest figures available from the Centers for Disease Control show that of 21 the AIDS cases reported through August 1991, 59% of all adults and adolescents 22 were exposed because they were men who had sex with other men. CDC Report 23 at 9, Table 4. Among males, 65% of adults and adolescents were exposed to HIV 24 and subsequently contracted AIDS because of sex with other males. Id. at 10, 25 Table 5.

26 B. Government Websites

27 Government websites, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice 28 where undisputed by the parties.

In Williams v. Long, 585 F. Supp. 2d 679, 691 (D. Md. 2008), the court stated:

“Public records and government documents are generally considered not to be subject to reasonable dispute,” and “[t]his includes public records and government documents available from reliable sources on the Internet.” 2004 U.S. Dist.
 LEXIS 20753, 2004 WL 2347559, at *1 (quoting In re Dingle, 270 F. Supp. 2d 968, 971 (W.D. Mich. 2003)); accord Paralyzed Veterans of Am. v. McPherson, No. C 06-4670 SBA, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 69542, 2008 WL 4183981, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 9, 2008) (citing Lorraine [v. Markel American Insurance Company], 241 F.R.D. [534] at 551 [(D. Md. 2007)]). “[I]n an age where so much information is calculated, stored and displayed on a computer, massive amounts

1 of evidence would be inadmissible” if courts were to willingly accept a portrayal 2 of all potential evidence located on the Internet as “inherently unreliable.”

3 And in Kater v. Churchill Downs Inc., 886 F.3d 784, 788 n.3 (9th Cir. 2018), the court held,

4 We grant Kater's motion to take judicial notice of the slideshow, meeting minutes, 5 and pamphlet because they are publicly available on the Washington government 6 website, and neither party disputes the authenticity of the website nor the 7 accuracy of the information. See Daniels-Hall v. Nat'l Educ. Ass'n, 629 F.3d 992, 8 998-99 (9th Cir. 2010) (citing Fed. R. Evid. 201).

9 In Dubrin v. Cty. of San Bernardino, No. EDCV 15-589 CJC(JC), 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10 161297, p. 58, n. 14 (C.D. Cal. Sep. 7, 2017), the court observed:

11 [I]n light of information about Hepatitis C from the United States Department of 12 Health and Human Services, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (‘CDC’) 13 — of which the Court may take judicial notice — a reasonable jury could find it 14 obvious that Hepatitis C, a blood-borne virus, could be transmitted through a 15 communal electric razor that is not properly disinfected (i.e., with the State 16 Barbering Method) like the one plaintiff says he was required to use for shaving 17 in Unit 5. See Viral Hepatitis, Hepatitis C Frequently Asked Questions for the 18 Public, United States Department of Health and Human Services, CDC website, 19 available at <https://www.cdc.gov/hepatitis/hcv/cfaq.htm#cFAQ13> (Hepatitis C 20 serious, potentially life threatening illness “spread primarily through contact with 21 the blood of an infected person”); id., available at 22 <https://www.cdc.gov/hepatitis/hcv/cfaq.htm#cFAQ31> (“People can become 23 infected with the Hepatitis C virus . . . through . . . [s]haring personal care items 24 that may have come in contact with another person's blood, such as razors or 25 toothbrushes.”); Harris, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 123485, 2009 WL 789756, at *12 26 (Hepatitis C spread, in part, by sharing ‘household items such as razors’) (taking 27 judicial notice of CDC website).... The Court may take judicial notice of the CDC 28 information which is not subject to reasonable dispute, in part, because it is readily determined from a source the accuracy of which cannot reasonably be questioned (i.e., the CDC website). See Fed. R. Evid. 201(b)(2), (c)(1); Fed. R.
Evid. 201(d) (court may take judicial notice at “any stage” of proceeding); see, e.g., Holifield v. UNUM Life Insurance Company of America, 640 F. Supp. 2d 1224, 1234-35 & nn.8-16 (C.D. Cal. 2009) (“appropriate to take judicial notice of the full complement of [] materials about [Chronic Fatigue Syndrome (‘CFS’)]” on CDC web site, including “CFS Basic Facts,” “Recognition and Management of [CFS],” and “[CFS] Treatment Options”); Harris v. Lappin, 2008 U.S. Dist.
LEXIS 123485, 2009 WL 789756, *12 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 19, 2009) (taking judicial notice of answers to “Frequently Asked Questions” about Hepatitis C from CDC website); Gent v. CUNA Mutual Insurance Society, 611 F.3d 79, 84 n.5 (1st Cir.
2010) (taking judicial notice, in part, of relevant facts regarding causes, symptoms, diagnosis, testing, and transmission of Lyme disease taken from CDC website, which facts are “not subject to reasonable dispute”) (citing Fed. R. Evid.
201(b), (f); Denius v. Dunlap, 330 F.3d 919, 926-27 (7th Cir. 2003)); Garrett v.
Davis, 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 39354, 2017 WL 1044969, *2 (S.D. Tex. Mar. 20, 2017) (taking judicial notice of analysis on CDC website regarding evidence of “the health risks of sleep deprivation” which “information [was] not subject to reasonable dispute because it can be accurately determined from sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned”) (citing Fed. R. Evid. 201(b)); cf., e.g., Ball v. LeBlanc, 792 F.3d 584, 591 (5th Cir. 2015) (approving of district court's taking of judicial notice of materials on National Weather Service website

1 reflecting “correlation between heat and death in adjudicating a claim that 2 involved atmospheric heat at the prison.”

3 In the Garrett case cited above, the court found,

4 The Court agrees with the Magistrate Judge that sleep deprivation can support an 5 Eighth Amendment claim and that CDC website materials may be used to support 6 the determination of whether there is a disputed issue of material fact regarding the amount of sleep required as a basic life necessity and the health risks associated with sleep deprivation, along with whether Defendant should have been aware of this obvious health risk.

7 Garrett v. Davis, No. 2:13-CV-70, 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 39354, p. 6 (S.D. Tex. Mar.
8 20, 2017).

9 And in the Gent case cited above, the court observed,

10 This information [that “Lyme disease is caused by a specific bacterium Borrelia 11 burgdorferi”] is taken primarily from the website of the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (“CDC”), a U.S. federal agency under the Department of 12 Health and Human Services. See CDC, Lyme Disease, http://www.cdc.gov/ncidod/dvbid/lyme/index.htm (last visited June 23, 2010). It is unclear to what 13 extent the information on the CDC's website is formally part of the record.
Although the district court and the parties have cited to the CDC website as 14 authoritative, it appears that Dr. Kinderlehrer's report is the only piece of record evidence that references the CDC directly. This is unproblematic, as other 15 evidence in the record conveys most of the information that can be found on the CDC's website. Nevertheless, to be on the safe side, we take judicial notice of the 16 relevant facts provided on the website, which are “not subject to reasonable dispute.” Fed. R. Evid. 201(b), (f); see also Denius v. Dunlap, 330 F.3d 919, 926-17 27 (7th Cir. 2003) (taking judicial notice of information from official government website).

18 Gent v. Cuna Mut. Ins. Soc'y, 611 F.3d 79, 84 n.5 (1st Cir. 2010).

19 In the Denius case cited above, the court observed, 20 [T]he district court abused its discretion in withdrawing its judicial notice of the 21 information from NPRC's official web-site.... The information on the website was not duplicative of the testimony; rather, it would have provided essential 22 corroboration. Further, the fact that the NPRC maintains medical records of military personnel is appropriate for judicial notice because it is not subject to 23 reasonable dispute. As the agency's website explains, “The National Personnel Records Center, Military Personnel Records (NPRC-MPR) is the repository of 24 millions of military personnel, health, and medical records of discharged and deceased veterans of all services during the 20th century. NPRC (MPR) also 25 stores medical treatment records of retirees from all services, as well as records for dependent and other persons treated at naval medical facilities. Information 26 from the records is made available upon written request (with signature and date) to the extent allowed by law.”

27 Denius v. Dunlap (7th Cir. 2003) 330 F.3d 919, 926.

28

1 See also, Dimanche v. Brown, 783 F.3d 1204, 1212 n.1 (11th Cir. 2015) (facts that “can be 2 accurately and readily determined from public reports prepared by the Florida Department of 3 Corrections, the accuracy of which cannot reasonably be questioned. Absent some reason for 4 mistrust, courts have not hesitated to take judicial notice of agency records and reports.”).

5 C. Government Statistics

6 Government statistics, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice 7 where undisputed by the parties.

8 As set forth in 2 Weinstein's Federal Evidence § 401.09 (2020):

9 To be admissible, statistical evidence, like all other evidence, must meet the test 10 for relevance under Rule 401, and is subject to exclusion under Rule 403. Further, 11 statistical analysis, like other expert testimony, must be “both relevant and 12 reliable,” and “[d]etermining the validity and value of statistical evidence is 13 firmly within the discretion of the district court.”

14 The hearsay rule is rarely a serious barrier to the admission of statistical studies.
15 Statistical studies may be offered under Rule 703 to explain the basis for an 16 expert’s opinion. Government compilations of statistics not created for litigation 17 also may be admissible as public records under Rule 803(8). Other compilations 18 may be admissible as “market reports or commercial publications” under Rule 19 803(17) or “learned treatises” under Rule 803(18).

20 D. Government Handbooks

21 Government handbooks, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice 22 where undisputed by the parties.

23 In Oregon Natural Desert Ass'n v. BLM, 625 F.3d 1092, 1112 (9th Cir. 2010), the appellate 24 court took judicial notice of a government “Handbook, along with the BLM briefs in other courts”, 25 on the factual definition of the term “wilderness”, finding:

26 The BLM similarly records in its current land use planning handbook that 27 wilderness characteristics are ‘naturalness, outstanding opportunities for solitude, 28 and outstanding opportunities for primitive and unconfined recreation,’ a paraphrase which closely tracks 16 U.S.C. § 1131(c)(1)-(3). BUREAU OF LAND MGMT., U. S. DEPT OF THE INTERIOR, LAND USE PLANNING
HANDBOOK, H-1601-1 (“2005 Handbook”) Appx. C 12 (2005); see also 2001
Handbook 10-16 (describing wilderness characteristics); 1978 Handbook 6 (same).

And in Johnson v. City of Shelby, 642 F. App'x 380, 383 (5th Cir. 2016), the court appellate court upheld judicial notice of a self-authenticating government handbook,

1 The City of Shelby attached a copy of the employee handbook—which was 2 clearly labelled “City of Shelby Employee Information Handbook” with a 2003 3 revision date—to its motion for summary judgment. And the district court 4 implicitly found the handbook authenticated and admissible because it relied on 5 the document in granting summary judgment. Johnson and James have presented 6 no evidence that undermines the authenticity of the handbook. Therefore, the 7 district court did not abuse its discretion in admitting and relying on the 8 handbook.

6 E. Government Statements

7 Statements by government officials, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of 8 judicial notice where undisputed by the parties. See, e.g., Ctr. for Biological Diversity, Inc. v. BP 9 Am. Prod. Co., 704 F.3d 413, 424 (5th Cir. 2013) (In this action for declaratory and injunctive relief 10 to prevent Defendants from violating environmental laws, and to ensure ongoing reporting of 11 environmental contaminants, the trial court took judicial notice of the undisputed fact that the 12 defendant’s off-shore well had been decommissioned and cemented shut, citing in part the 13 statement of the National Incident Commander Admiral. The appellate court agreed stating, “[W]e 14 conclude that there was no error in the district court's taking of judicial notice of the well's status.”)

15 F. Medical Journals

16 Medical journals, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice where 17 undisputed by the parties.

18 In United States v. Sauls, 981 F. Supp. 909, 920 (D. Md. 1997), the court identified 19 scientific reports and journals as available subjects of judicial notice:

20 The Supreme Court has stated that firmly established scientific principles are 21 properly the subject of judicial notice under Fed. Rule Evid. 201. Daubert v.
22 Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals Inc., 509 U.S. 579, 592 n. 11, 125 L. Ed. 2d 469, 23 113 S. Ct. 2786 (1993). Under Evid. Rule 201 a judicially noticed fact is one that 24 is not subject to reasonable dispute and is capable of accurate and ready 25 determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be 26 questioned. Fed. Rule Evid. 201(b).

24 In determining whether judicial notice should be taken, the Court may consider 25 federal and state statutes and regulations, municipal ordinances, government 26 reports, agency rules and regulations, Surgeon General's Reports, medical and 27 scientific reports and journals as well as various other sources which the Court is 28 of the opinion are reliable. See, Clemmons v. Bohannon, 918 F.2d 858, 865-868 (10th Cir. 1990) vacated on other grounds, on reh. en banc, 956 F.2d 1523 (10th Cir. 1992).

1 See also Altman v. HO Sports Co., 821 F. Supp. 2d 1178, 1181 n.2 (E.D. Cal. 2011)
 2 (rejecting judicial notice of Wikipedia article as not authoritative, but accepting judicial notice of an 3 esteemed scientific journal, “Altman makes no objection to the Court taking judicial notice of the 4 American Journal of Sports Medicine article. Accordingly, the Court will consider Exhibit 2.”).

5 In United States v. Davita Inc., No. 8:18-cv-01250-JLS-DFM, 2020 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6 102981, at *10-11 (C.D. Cal. Apr. 10, 2020), the court took judicial notice as follows:

7 [J]udicial notice of nine medical journal articles that address the efficacy of 8 prophylactic dialysis and Sensipar, two of which are the IDEAL and EVOLVE 9 studies referenced and relied upon in the TAC.... “When considering a motion to 10 dismiss, a court typically does not look beyond the complaint to avoid converting 11 a motion to dismiss into a motion for summary judgment.” Better Homes Realty, 12 Inc. v. Watmore, Case No.: 3:16-cv-01607-BEN-MDD, 2017 WL 1400065, at *2 13 (C.D. Cal. April 18, 2017) (citing Spy Optic, Inc. v. Alibaba.Com, Inc., 163 F.
 14 Supp. 3d 755, 760 (C.D. Cal. 2015)). “Notwithstanding this precept, a court may 15 take judicial notice of material which is included in, referenced in, or relied upon 16 by the complaint, matters in the public record, and facts 'not subject to reasonable 17 dispute' that are “generally known within [that court's] territorial jurisdiction” or 18 “can be accurately and readily determined from sources whose accuracy cannot 19 reasonably be questioned' under Federal Rule of Evidence 201(b).” Id.
 20 Defendants are correct that, while the articles may be subject to judicial notice, “they are noticeable only for the limited purpose of demonstrating” that the articles exist and were published on a certain date. See Pinterest, Inc. v. Pintrips, Inc., 15 F. Supp. 3d 992, 997 (N.D. Cal. 2014) (citing Lee v. City of Los Angeles, 250 F.3d 668, 688 (9th Cir. 2001)); see also Von Saher v. Norton Simon Museum of Art at Pasadena, 592 F.3d 954, 960 (9th Cir. 2010) (“Courts may take judicial notice of publications introduced to “indicate what was in the public realm at the time, not whether the contents of those articles were in fact true.”). For example, as discussed below, Relator relies heavily in his TAC on the two articles regarding the IDEAL and EVOLVE studies. In the context of this Motion to Dismiss, the Court examines the articles to determine whether they say what the Relator claims they say, but does not take judicial notice of the truth of their contents.

21 See also In re Thoratec Corp. Sec. Litig., No. C-04-03168 RMW, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22 30602, at *12-13 (N.D. Cal. May 10, 2006) holding,

23 The court finds it appropriate to take judicial notice of the New England Journal 24 of Medicine article regarding the REMATCH trial results to the extent that 25 defendants rely upon it for the date it was published. The court takes judicial 26 notice of the publication date, but, as set forth below, the court does not consider 27 defendant's "truth on the market" defense at the present stage of litigation. The 28 court may also rely on the article to the extent that plaintiff's allegations rely upon the REMATCH trial results. The complaint refers extensively to the REMATCH trial results but plaintiff attaches only articles and other documents referencing the trial results. Thus, the court may take judicial notice of the New England Journal article contents in order to establish the sufficiency of the allegations.

1 Finally, for the purpose of perspective Petitioners will cite a law review article on the 2 matter:

3 McCormick writes that a principle may be judicially noticed if “the principle is 4 accepted as a valid one in the appropriate scientific community,” but then 5 continues that “in continuing the intellectual viability of the proposition ... the 6 judge is free to consult any sources that he thinks are reliable.” Several courts 7 adhere to this interpretation..... Puzzling enough in this regard, it has been noted 8 that “nowhere can there be found a definition of what constitutes competent or 9 authoritative sources for purposes of verifying judicially noticed facts.”

12 G. Medical Institution Publications

13 Documents from established medical institutions, and excerpts therefrom, are an available 14 source of judicial notice where undisputed by the parties. See, e.g., Wible v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., 37 15 F.Supp.2d 956, 966 (C.D. Cal. 2005) (granting request for judicial notice as to webpage of 16 American Academy of Allergy Asthma & Immunology).

18 at *8 n.2 (D. Nev. Sep. 27, 2019), upholding judicial notice as follows:

19 Pericardial Effusion, Mayo Clinic, <https://www.mayoclinic.org/diseases-conditions/pericardial-effusion/symptoms-causes/syc-20353720> (last updated 20 Aug. 10, 2017). The Court takes judicial notice of the commonly understood 21 meanings of the medical terms referenced in Plaintiff's documents. Fed. R. Evid.
22 201 (courts may take judicial notice of facts that are not subject to reasonable 23 dispute because they are generally known or are capable of accurate and ready 24 determination); See Reddick v. Chater, 157 F.3d 715, 726 (9th Cir. 1998) (taking 25 judicial notice of a medical journal's definition of chronic in its remand to AU for 26 award of chronic fatigue syndrome in its remand to ALJ for award of benefits).

27 H. Medical Textbooks

28 Medical textbooks, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice where undisputed by the parties.

In Hines ex rel Sevier v. Sec'y of HHS, 940 F.2d 1518, 1526 (Fed. Cir. 1991), the court took judicial notice of a medical textbook's recognition of the incubation period of measles, and stated:

Sevier also argues that the incubation period of measles is not a fact that should be subject to judicial notice, even under informal rules. But even the Federal Rules of Evidence specifically permit the taking of judicial notice of a fact which is “not subject to reasonable dispute” because it is “capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned.” Fed. R. Evid. 201(b). Well-known medical facts are the types of matters of which judicial notice may be taken. Compare Franklin Life Ins. Co. v. William J. Champion & Co., 350 F.2d 115, 130 (6th Cir. 1965), cert. denied, 384 U.S. 928, 16 L. Ed. 2d 531, 86 S. Ct. 1445 (1966) (taking judicial notice of the fact that cancer does not manifest itself quickly), with Hardy v. Johns-Manville Sales Corp., 681 F.2d 334, 347-48 (5th Cir. 1982) (“The proposition that asbestos causes cancer, because it is inextricably linked to a host of disputed issues . . . is not at present so self-evident a proposition as to be subject to judicial notice.”). Here, Sevier has offered no evidence that the incubation period of measles is disputed among treatise writers. Moreover, the special master found, based on his first-hand perception of her testimony, that Sevier's expert was uncertain about the incubation period. It thus appears that the taking of judicial notice would have been proper even under the Federal Rules of Evidence. In such a case, where the taking of judicial notice would be permissible even under the Federal Rules of Evidence, we certainly cannot say that it was contrary to the more liberal “fundamental fairness” requirement of the Vaccine Rules.

I. University Publications

Documents from established universities, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice where undisputed by the parties. See, e.g., In re Ahlers, 794 F.2d 388, 392 n.1 (8th Cir. 1986), rev'd on other grounds, 485 U.S. 197 (1988) (judicial notice of “highly respected publication of the University of Minnesota” charting rise and fall in land values in southwest Minnesota from 1975 to 1985).

J. Professional Desk Manuals

Established professional desk manuals, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice where undisputed by the parties.

The 9th Circuit in United States v. Howard, 381 F.3d 873, 880 n.7 (9th Cir. 2004) cited the Physicians Desk Reference to take judicial notice that the drugs Percocet and Percodan contain active ingredient similar to morphine, which may impair physical and mental abilities. See also, 1 Weinstein's Fed. Evid. § 201.12[1] (2nd ed. 2001) (“While judicial notice based on general knowledge reflects the traditional approach . . . notice of verifiable facts is a more modern development . . . consistent with the approach of the Uniform Rules of Evidence.”); Werner v. Werner, 267 F.3d 288, 295 (3d Cir. 2001); Edwards v. Secretary of Dep’t of Health & Human Servs., 572 F. Supp. 1235, 1238 (E.D.N.Y. 1983) (taking judicial notice of subjective symptoms of debilitating and incapacitating diseases as found in Physician’s Desk Manual); Harris v. H & W Contracting, 102 F.3d 516, 522 (11th Cir. 1996) (citing the Merck Manual of Diagnosis and

1 Therapy and also the Attorneys' Textbook of Medicine, the court took judicial notice that Graves' 2 disease, a form of hyperthyroidism, can substantially limit major life activities if left untreated).

3 In Texpor Traders, Inc. v. Tr. Co. Bank, 720 F. Supp. 1100, 1105 n.2 (S.D.N.Y. 1989),

4 The court takes judicial notice that in statistical analysis, using a well known 5 mathematical theorem, viz., the Central Limit Theorem, a sample size of thirty or 6 more is generally recognized as sufficient to guarantee normality of the 7 distribution of sample means. Fed.R.Evid. 201. This is important because in most 8 problems involving sampling, the standard deviation of the given population is 9 unknown. Sample statistics are, therefore, substituted for population parameters 10 and can also be used to define the standard error of the mean. See generally W.C.
11 Curtis, Statistical Concepts for Attorneys (1983).

9 K. Dictionaries

10 Established dictionaries, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice 11 where undisputed by the parties. See, e.g., Conway v. Northfield Ins. Co., 399 F. Supp. 3d 950, 956 12 n.1, 966 (N.D. Cal. 2019) (granting judicial notice of American Heritage dictionary and Black's 13 Law Dictionary definitions of "habitable"; court could consult "dictionaries and encyclopedias" in 14 taking judicial notice under Fed. R. Evid. 201(b)); Best Buy Stores, L.P. v. Manteca Lifestyle Ctr., 15 LLC, 859 F. Supp. 2d 1138, 1145–146 (E.D. Cal. 2012) (while taking ordinary definitions of 16 "phase" and "section" found in Merriam-Webster Dictionary into consideration in interpreting 17 contested lease, court declined to judicially notice these definitions as controlling, because parties 18 reasonably disagreed over meaning of words "phase" and "section" in context of this lease; "[T]he 19 Court may consider when determining the "plain, unambiguous, and common meanings of 20 terms...")

21 L. Congressional Testimony

22 Congressional testimony, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice 23 where undisputed by the parties.

24 In Dingle v. Bioport Corp., 388 F.3d 209, 211 (6th Cir. 2004), cert. denied, the appellate 25 court observed:

26 The district judge took judicial notice of congressional testimony, including 27 congressional testimony by Marc S. Zaid (an attorney for a serviceman that 28 refused to take the anthrax vaccine) and testimony of Kwai-Cheung Chan (Director of Special Studies and Evaluations for the National Security and International Affairs Division of the General Accounting Office), a House

1 Committee on Government Reform report entitled The Department of Defense 2 Anthrax Vaccine Immunization Program: Unproven Force Protection, and a 3 newspaper article from the Lansing State Journal entitled Documents Hold 4 Anthrax Secrets. All of the judicially noticed items discussed different aspects of 5 the controversy surrounding the vaccination of U.S. servicemen and 6 servicewomen, and portions of each source discussed problems with the 7 production of the vaccine at the BioPort facility, the sole facility producing 8 anthrax vaccine in the United States. Defendant argued that this discussion of 9 problems with the vaccine could lead one to draw an inference that BioPort 10 defrauded the government.”)

11 See also the lower court ruling in United States ex rel. Dingle v. BioPort Corp., 270 12 F.Supp.2d at 972-73, 976-77, and n.2, upholding judicial notice of public disclosures showing 13 deviations between the anthrax vaccine that was approved by the FDA and the anthrax vaccine that 14 was actually being produced. The court upheld taking judicial notice of Congressional papers 15 relating to the anthrax vaccine, stating:

16 Public records and government documents are generally considered “not to be 17 subject to reasonable dispute.” [citation omitted]”. The court also upheld judicial 18 notice of a prominent medical journal article relating to the anthrax vaccine, 19 despite the article’s imperfection, finding “While the author of the article may 20 have incorrectly reported on the reason for the filter changes, such an inaccuracy 21 does not preclude the article from serving as a public disclosure. One may still 22 conclude that the vaccine being produced and sold to the Government was not the 23 vaccine approved by the FDA; thus, the essential revelation of potential fraud 24 remains, regardless of the accuracy of the article.” Of great importance to the 25 power of inference from judicially noticed documents, the court found, “An 26 inference of fraud can also reasonably be drawn from the House Report, which 27 noted that the Lansing plant had been cited numerous times for deviating from 28 FDA regulations and problems that arose during potency testing.”)

18 M. Drug Labels and Inserts

19 Manufacturer drug labels and product inserts, and excerpts therefrom, are an available 20 source of judicial notice where undisputed by the parties. See, e.g., In Mendell v. Amgen, Inc. (In re 21 Amgen Inc. Sec. Litig.), 544 F. Supp. 2d 1009, 1023 (C.D. Cal. 2008) (“the Court grants Defendants 22 request as to Exhibits 1 and 2, [drug] labels for Aranesp and Epogen taken from the FDA website, 23 as documents ‘capable of accurate and ready determination’ and ‘not subject to reasonable dispute.’
 24 Fed. R. Evid. 201(b).”).

25 See also, Butler v. Onyeje, No. 1:11-cv-00723-MJS, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8582, at *16-18, 26 and n.8 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 22, 2014) where the court took judicial notice that manufacturer’s drug 27 inserts were available for review by prescribing physicians medications, citing online edition of 28 Physicians’ Desk Reference, but noting,

1 The Court takes judicial notice of the public existence of this material, and hence 2 its availability to Defendant, only insofar as a failure to act in accordance with it 3 may evidence a knowing disregard to an excessive risk. The Court makes no 4 finding as to the truth of the information contained in this material and cautions 5 that it likely would not suffice to refute contrary competent medical evidence 6 directly on point.

5 N. Newspapers

6 Established newspapers, and excerpts therefrom, are an available source of judicial notice 7 where undisputed by the parties. See, e.g., In United States ex rel. Dingle v. BioPort Corp., 270 F.
8 Supp. 2d at 977 n.2, where the court upheld judicial notice of a Lansing State Journal newspaper 9 article for a specific purpose in the case, as the court stated:

10 In their June 2, 2003, response to the Court's May 9, 2003, Memorandum Order 11 taking judicial notice of the Lansing State Journal article, Plaintiffs contend that 12 the statements made about the filter changes are incorrect, and thus unreliable as 13 public disclosures. (Pls.' Second Supp. Mem. Law at 4.) While the author of the 14 article may have incorrectly reported on the reason for the filter changes, such an 15 inaccuracy does not preclude the article from serving as a public disclosure. One 16 may still conclude that the vaccine being produced and sold to the Government 17 was not the vaccine approved by the FDA; thus, the essential revelation of 18 potential fraud remains, regardless of the accuracy of the article.

15 IV. Commonly Known to Public Health Officials Familiar with the Matter

16 Given the technical nature of this national security case, Petitioners focus their requests for 17 judicial notice on facts that are commonly known to public health officials familiar with the matter.

18 This request follows extensive case law focusing on the relevant technical or knowledgeable 19 community that is familiar with the judicial notice matter in question. See, e.g., Takahashi v. Fish 20 & Game Com., 334 U.S. 410, 426, 68 S. Ct. 1138, 1146 (1948), finding:

21 The trial court below correctly described the situation as follows: "As it was 22 commonly known to the legislators of 1945 that Japanese were the only aliens 23 ineligible to citizenship who engaged in commercial fishing in ocean waters 24 bordering on California, and as the Court must take judicial notice of the same 25 fact, it becomes manifest that in enacting the present version of [Cal. Fish & 26 Game Code] Section 990, the Legislature intended thereby to eliminate alien 27 Japanese from those entitled to a commercial fishing license by means of 28 description rather than by name.

26 See also United States v. Eggen, 57 Cust. Ct. 736, 749 (U.S. 1966) ("It is a fact, commonly 27 known to valuers of merchandise and of which courts may take judicial notice, that in the countries 28 of Europe the metric system was used, by law, during the period of the Thomas case."); Fed.

1 Kemper Life Assurance Co. v. First Nat'l Bank, 712 F.2d 459, 463 (11th Cir. 1983) (“It is true that 2 Alabama courts recognize that there are "some diseases which are commonly known to be of such 3 serious consequences that the court will declare that they increase the risk of loss, without making a 4 jury question." National Security Insurance Co. v. Tellis, 104 So. 2d 483, 486 (Ala. Crim. App.
5 1958), quoting Sovereign Camp, W.O.W. v. Harris, 228 Ala. 417, 153 So. 870, 874 (1934).
6 Alabama courts take judicial notice that certain conditions are commonly known to be life-7 threatening.”); Horn v. Berryhill, 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 157177, at *15 n.11 (D.S.D. Sep. 26, 8 2017) (in a medical case, “The court takes judicial notice of the fact that [the Indian Health Service] 9 is habitually underfunded by Congress. As a result, IHS denies funding of contract services for non-10 life threatening conditions of Native Americans on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation.”).

11 V. Limitations of Petitioners Requests for Judicial Notice

12 Petitioners' RJNs are limited exclusively to the quoted material specifically identified in the 13 RJN pleading itself. Petitioners reserve the right to contest any judicial notice requests by 14 Respondent of other materials on the subject matter, even if such other materials are by the same 15 sources quoted by Petitioners and likewise even if such other materials are within the same exhibit 16 provided by Petitioners.

17 In order to focus the issues and reduce potentially disputed material facts in litigation, 18 Petitioners' RJNs are intended to recognize upfront certain but not all consensus positions of public 19 health officials in the United States of America. Petitioners' RJNs are neither offered nor intended to 20 limit Petitioners' ability to contest other consensus positions of public health officials. Nor are 21 Petitioners' RJNs offered or intended to limit Petitioners' ability to present additional and separate 22 evidence that public health officials have not generally adopted as consensus positions. In this 23 manner, Petitioners' RJNs are not offered or intended as "truth" applicable to all persons, but rather 24 they are offered as the scientific consensus positions ('facts') recognized by public health officials 25 for purposes of this litigation, even if those scientific consensus positions are not recognized as 26 'facts' to the general public or other scientific groups that challenge the consensus position.

27 If any of Petitioners' Requests for Judicial Notice are declined by the Court for proof of the 28 fact stated, then Petitioners respectfully resubmit such Request(s) on the following alternative

1 grounds: ‘For the fact that the statement was made’. One of Petitioners’ intended relevant uses of 2 such judicially noticed findings would be to establish that a reasonable person may justifiably
3 exercise the right of informed refusal to vaccines recommended by the Centers for Disease Control 4 and Prevention (CDC).

5 VI. Petitioners’ Supplemental Request To Utilize Demonstrative Evidence At Pre-Trial
6 Hearings Relating To The Facts Of The Case

7 Introduction

8 Supplemental to Petitioners’ Requests for Judicial Notice, Petitioners ask the Court to 9 authorize Petitioners’ use of the attached demonstrative evidence (scientific graphs) at any pre-trial 10 hearings relating to the facts of the case (i.e., summary judgment).

11 The attached demonstrative evidence is compiled exclusively from authoritative factual 12 exhibits presented in Petitioners’ requests for judicial notice. Should the Court deny any particular 13 request for judicial notice, then Petitioners are prepared for, and hereby request, an evidentiary 14 hearing to qualify Petitioners’ expert witnesses who can lay the foundation and proffer the 15 relevance for Petitioners’ exhibits and demonstrative evidence.

16 Petitioners anticipate the need for preliminary hearings on the facts of the case (i.e., to show 17 Petitioners’ substantial likelihood of prevailing on the merits at trial; and to show genuine issues of 18 material fact). At such hearings Petitioners request the opportunity to present demonstrative 19 evidence (scientific graphs) that both clearly and concisely present data from the many volumes of 20 Petitioners’ judicially noticeable medical facts regarding the National Health Pandemic referenced 21 in Petitioners’ Petition for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief. In this manner, the Court granting 22 Petitioners’ request to present demonstrative evidence will promote pre-trial judicial expediency by 23 inviting the court to weigh and decide upon the crux and material facts of the case rather than the 24 scientific minutiae. Even at early stages of the litigation, demonstrative evidence will assist the 25 Court in assessing the relevancy of the evidence proffered by Petitioners, which will assist both 26 parties in focusing their respective litigation efforts at every stage of the proceeding.

1 Legal Authorities Supporting Petitioners' Request to Utilize Demonstrative Evidence

2 The attached scientific graphs have a factual basis that is useful to summarize Petitioners' 3 voluminous body of evidence, and the demonstrative evidence is presented with a maximum effort 4 to provide clarity and avoid confusion. See, e.g., 6 Weinstein's Federal Evidence § 1006.05 (2020).

5 The applicable rule authorizing Petitioners' request is USCS Federal Rules of Evidence Rule 6 1006:

7 The proponent may use a summary, chart, or calculation to prove the content of 8 voluminous writings, recordings, or photographs that cannot be conveniently 9 examined in court. The proponent must make the originals or duplicates available for examination or copying, or both, by other parties at a reasonable time and place. And the court may order the proponent to produce them in court.

10 See also United States v. Aubrey, 800 F.3d 1115, 1130 (9th Cir. 2015) (“Rule 1006 requires 11 that ‘[t]he proponent must make the originals or duplicates [of the voluminous writings] available 12 for examination or copying, or both, by other parties at a reasonable time and place.’ ”).

13 Here, Petitioners have used the attached scientific graphs to prove the content of voluminous 14 data that cannot be conveniently examined in court. The complete originals or duplicates will be 15 made available for examination or copying, or both, by the Court or by other parties at a reasonable 16 time and place.

17 As set forth above, Petitioners' request to present demonstrative evidence will promote pre-18 trial judicial expediency, and will focus the parties and the Court on the material facts of the case 19 rather than the scientific minutiae. In the event the Court conducts a hearing, Plaintiffs will be able 20 to provide proof of accuracy. See, e.g., United States v. Chhibber, 741 F.3d 852, 856 (7th Cir. 2014) 21 (“summary exhibits which accurately portray the underlying data are admissible so long as the 22 proponent complies with the dictates of Rule 1006”) quoting United States v. Isaacs, 593 F.3d 517, 23 527–528 (7th Cir. 2010); Trustees of the Chicago Plastering Institute Pension Trust v. Cork 24 Plastering Co., 570 F.3d 890, 901 (7th Cir. 2009) (audit report containing tabulations based on 25 employer's payroll records was admissible under Rule 1006, even though report reflected certain 26 assumptions; court assessed those assumptions based on totality of evidence and rejected 27 application of any assumption shown to be invalid). 6 Weinstein's Federal Evidence § 1006.07 28 (2020).

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Petitioners respectfully move this Court to grant judicial notice in the specific and narrow manner requested.

Dated: December 21, 2020
